Culturally-adapted Family Intervention

African Caribbean people

Would you like to help us develop a new 'talking therapy'

for African Caribbean families?

This research involves working with African Caribbean families to see if they think the culturally-appropriate talking therapy is useful and meets their needs.

We are looking for community members to work alongside people diagnosed with schizophrenia who do not have contact with their families but would like to take part in this 'talking therapy'

To take part in the research, you need not be from an African Caribbean background or knowledgeable about schizophrenia.

We are looking for people who would be willing to commit to the study for at least 6 months. Training and support will be provided for 'family support members'.

Funded by the National Institute of Health Research Health Service & Delivery Research (NIHR HS&DR) Programme
